BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR HARRISON AND PROTECTION.

A Glance at the Doubtful States-Most of Them Considered Safe for Harrison.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.

THE DOUBTFUL STATES. Republicans Confident of Carrying Every One of Them.

NEW YORK, November 5th .- Mr. Blaine says: "There is no doubt of our success. The spirit of that demonstration of Saturday is but an indication of the spirit which animates Republicans all over the State." Expressions like the above could be multiplied, but it is useless. Every word of every Republican presages victory, and the parade Saturday has had its effect alike upon Republicans and Democrats. The latter are downcast but hopeful. There have been preparations made to cut off all attempts at fraud on the part of the Democrats, and unless some trick not suspected use of the Democratic electors substituted. THE OUTLOOK IN CONNECTICUT.

New HAVEN, November 5th .- The Reoublican managers in Connecticut have completed a masterly canvas and figure out a majority for Harrison of from 2,000 to 3,000 in a poll of 140,000. In this they give the Prohibitionists 3,000, which is an in-crease of 500 over their vote cast four years ago, an increase which the canvas scarcely warrants. Sam Fessenden, Blaine's old henchman and Chairman of the National Committee in 1884, says he is sure that the Republicans will retain 75 per cent. of the Irish vote which was last time cast for Blaine, and this only adds to the total. He expects to give Harrison a plurality in the State nearer 5.000 than 2,000 He says the tayif issue will not than 2,000 Demo. the tariff issue will net them 2,000 Democratic votes in the manufacturing centers In the Democratic ranks there is a fight against Barnum and his candidate for Governor. The bickering in the ranks of the Democracy, the tariff defection, the revolt against the ring, the retention of the Blaine Irish vote by the Republicans give an as-surance that Connecticut is safe for Harison and Morton. NEW JERSEY SEEMS TO BE SAFE. Washington, November 5th.—William Walter Phelps says of New Jersey: "I have been continuously on the stump in New Jersey for more than a month past and consequently know almost nothing personally of political matters outside of that State. From all that I have seen, however, and all that I can gather, there can be no doubt of the success of Harrison and Morton. New Jersey is the only lecidedly favorable for the Republicans. I have the utmost confidence in the result so far as the State Legislature is concerned We shall have that certainly. New York's majority for Harrison will startle some of those Democrats who have been putting up

BOTH CLAIM INDIANA. Indianapolis, November 5th. - Both headquarters of the two great political par-ties positively claim the State and both 'last polls' show pluralities for either party, ranging from 8,000 to 12,000. The Republicans have undoubtedly gained strength during the past week. The Pro-Beaver Jackets $ 7 00 hibition vote will be a quarter less than it would have been one week ago. The tactics of the Democrats to alienate the labor vote have not been successful, and the two parties will get an equal share of it. The most accurate election statisticians in the country predict a Republican vic-

IN WEST VIRGINIA. WHEELIEG, November 5th .- The vote in West Virginia promises to surprise the Democrats outside of the State. The Demo-crats hope to give the electoral vote to Cleveland, and, possibly, save all the State ticket, but they privately concede the Gov-ernor and the Legislature to the Repub-

THE OLD DOMINION. ALEXANDRIA, November 5th. - I have good reason to believe the majority for Harrison and Morton in Virginia will be from 7,000 to 10,000, and five or six Repub-lican members of Congress will be chosen. Lewis McKenzik.

CONFLICTING FIGURES. Democrats Advised to Hedge on New York-Other States.

WASHINGTON, November 5th.-Govern ment business is practically at a standstill. Every member of the Cabinet excepting Attorney-General Garland is out of town. The majority of the heads of bureaus and chiefs of divisions, and hundreds of clerks have gone home to vote. The election is the only topic of conversation. This morning Senator-elect Barbour, of Virginia, received a telegram from Chairman Brice of the Democratic National Committee, assuring him that New York their homes to vote. Advices from Indiana to the Republican Congressional Committee are that Harrison will carry the State by 8,000. The Democratic advices are that Cleveland will carry the State by 13,000.

The Republican figures on the general result show a plurality of 38,000. INDIANA'S RETURNS. How the News of Hoosierdom Will be Sent Out. Indianapolis, November 5th .- Exten-Western Union Telegraph Company. All comparisons will be with the Presidential vote of 1884. The first returns received will show the result by precincts. There are 1,773 in the State, an increase of five over the precincts of 1884. As soon as twenty precincts have reported the vote will be added and sent as the first election ballot. Each bulletin will give the exact vote of 1884 for the same precincts. As soon as twenty additional precincts have been reported they will be added to the first twenty, and the result will comprise he second regular bulletin. Returns by counties will also be sent in addition to the precinct bulletins, but it is scarcely probable that any county returns will be received before one or two o'clock on Wednesday morning, as the ickets in Indiana contains thirty-seven to forty names, and under the law each name is sprung upon the Republicans, there can be no doubt of the result of to-morrow's election. enters on the vote of the Second Ward of Indianapolis, General Harrison's ward, which, in 1884, gave Blaine 729, Cleveland 229, Butler 9, and St. John 11. General Harrison's precinct (the third) gave Blaine 236, Cleveland 66, and the other candidates

The Democratic State Committee has arranged to also bring returns by precinct, and the Associated Press will handle their returns, giving the totals of every thirty precincts, and stating with each bulleting that the returns are from the Democratic Special wires have been run into the Democrat and Republican headquarters and at several other points in the city.

General Harrison will receive the returns by wire at his house. SOMEBODY IS AWAY OFF. Estimates on to-morrow's result in In diana are widely apart. An Associated Press correspondent obtained at a late hour the following final estimates by the gentlemen named: Chairman Jewett, of the Democratic State Committee, says: "In-diana will give Cleveland and Thurman 10,000 plurality, and Watson will be elected Governor by a handsome majority."

Chairman Huston, of the Republican State Committee, says: "General Harrison will carry Indiana by 12,000, and General Hovey, for Governor, will be elected.

DETROIT, November 5th.—The campaign Editor Morse, of the Sentinel: "My esti-mate is 12,000 for Cleveland and Thurman." Editor Halford, of the Journal: "I have no estimates, but you may say that in my opinion General Harrison will run far ahead of the State ticket, and his plurality in the State will be several thousand." A LIVELY CITY.

Things were very lively around the new Denison Hotel to-night, and the street for an entire square are filled with thousands of zealous Republicans discussing to-morrow's election with great animation. The colored people are among the most demonstrative. They brought out the great Cumberland ball, and not less than 500 men pulled it through the streets, cheering wildly.

The city presents a carnival appearance. A comic band is marching through the streets, the members wearing old plug hats and long linen dusters. They are greeted with cheers and applause at every hotel. Quite a number of speeches were made to-day all over the city, notably those of Governor Gray and ex-Senator McDonald.

The Republican State Committees have their old lists of Republican clerks, and there is a disposition to test their legality. A great many of the old clerks-if not all of them—have received letters from Republi-can State Committees urging them to come home and vote as usual, and giving them to understand that if Harrison is elected. as the letters predict, beyond doubt, he will be, any shirking of their patriotic duty will Railroad people say that more Govern-

A Blow to Ex-Tempore Inspiration No one has ever doubted that the great orators of Greece and Rome prepared their orations-wrote them out in fall and committed them to memory. But notwithstanding all the facts to the contrary, there still exists a popular dalusion that the orator's brightest and most eloquent sentences are inspirations of the moment, and that for him no special prepara-tion is ever necessary. A victim to this belief who heard Colonel Robest Ingersoll during a recent political sampaign followed the distinguished orator to his next appointment, and was both surprised and chagrined to find that he repeated the same speech, without the omission or addition of a single syllable. ENGLAND GETTING READY TO ABAN-DON FREE TRADE.

John L. Heaton, the brilliant London correspondent of the Indianapolis Journal, devotes two columns of his last letter to recitation of proofs that "fair trade" and "protection" ideas are gaining ground very rapidly in free trade England.

This is of exceeding significance and has a world of meaning that should be felt in this campaign. Let voters recall the fact that the protective principle was born with the American Government; that it was advised and supported by Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton, Jackson, Monroe, Franklin, and Lincoln. Let them remember that in every instance where we have departed from it, American industries have suffered and financial distress ensued; that our present prosperity, our industrial progress, our era of conand the advance in arts, sciences and me operation of the protective system; above all, let it be kept in view that England herself, the foremost representative of the free trade idea, was able to establish free trade only after centuries of the most rigid exaction of protective duties and imposts.

Now, if English thought is turning backward toward the original English idea and looking to radical modifications of the free trade policy, the fact is of the highest importance for our consideration. Mr. Heaton asserts this to be a fact. He declares that competition from abroad has become the bane of the English workman, and he having realized that truth is now looking to restrictive means as a remedy. The "Fair Trade League" is a legitimate result of this seeking, and it to-day embraces some of the best thought and foremost men of Great Britain in its ranks.

The Sheffield Telegraph is practically the first paper of England outside of London, and it is the champion of the new import tax as a weapon to force British trade abroad; to tax luxuries and to remove taxation from necessities. The scheme does not come to the level of the American protective system, but for Englishmen is a very long advance step. The forcing of trade abroad by an import tax is simply a system of retaliation for discriminations against England.

The free trade system has been found to operate harshly in this way; machines for the party through which alone the Chinese various manufactures are built in England | Exclusion Act became a law. Hence it was that 14 Democrats lowest wage-paying country of the earth, voted in the Senate against the bill and 15 if we except China.

While the fair traders insist that they ing absent. do not want protection, it is perfectly clear that the inevitable drift of their plan is in that direction. They propose, says Sir W. C. Leng, one of their leaders, to put a duty upon American wheat, not to keep it out, for "where else can it go? man was in every respect a representa We have you at our mercy." He adds: The political economists talk nonsense when they say the consumer always pays the tariff. Sometimes he does, sometimes the producer and sometimes they share it. Our plan as to wheat would raise the price slightly, but then the British farmer could make both ends meet, and the British workman could well afford to pay more as farmer could make both ends meet, and the British workman could well afford to pay more for his bread, because he would have a better home market reserved for him, and certainly ne worse, probably a better, foreign market than now.

E. Brandram Jones, a leading "fair trader," exclaims: What we want, and all that we want, is slight import tax levied upon articles which come into most ruinous competition with British products. When we see our country sinking year by year deeper into ruin and misery, we think it about time to take the obvious means

I would have the duty so adjusted that every great American industry can fairly live and make fair profits. The chief charge I make sgainst this bill is that it seeks to cripple the protective features of the law. A bill so radical in its character, so dangerous to our business prosperity, would work infinite mischief at this time, when the country is just recovering itself from a long period of depression and getting again upon solid ground, just coming out of the wild see of panie and distress which has tossed to speak for the laboring men, but really in the employ of the Democratic party managers, promulgated through the newspapers and by campaign publications that were given without the indorsement of the Democratic campaign managers, but were ight of the free traders to reduce the tariff paid for by their funds and circulated un v piece-meal, Garfield voted against them der their auspices, a number of false and scandalous stories relating to my attitude toward organized labor. A Model Candidate. The Indianapolis Journal says:

General Benjamin Harrison's personality has been the prominent and overshadowing feature of this campaign. His speeches have given him a national reputation. He has stumped the United States by telegraph. Without going away from his home-almost without leaving his door-step-he has addressed more and larger audiences, and more varied in character, than any other Presidential candidate ever did. He has not sought publicity, but publicity has sought him. His speeches have brought him into contact with the American people. They have been read by millions the morning after their delivery, and have been the subject of breakfast-table comment from Maine to California. Every speech he has made been carefully scrutinized by his political enemies for a loophole of attack. No shipwrecked mariner ever scanned the horizon for a friendly sail more anxiously than Democratic purveyors of campaign material have scanned these speeches for something they could utilize. They have searched in vain. General Harrison has not made a single "bad break" or a single error. He has said the right thing, in the right way, at the right time, and that continually. That city is Mr. Barnum's home, and he owns hundreds of houses there. Every candid business man knows that the effect of Democratic success, with the consequent assault upon the tariff, means business disaster. Intended or not intended, it is to be found in the few quotations above given.

The point is self-evident. Every prompting families of idle workingmen. There houses were established to feed the starving families of idle workingmen. There was general starvation in business, and the people had a suggestion of what would happen if a general free trade programme should be inaugurated. Mr. Barnun knows that if the Democratic party were given the power it would move to free trade just as fast as the needs of the Treasury would permit. So he makes the Treasury would permit. So he makes his offer, knowing that Democratic success means general distress. He made a prediction somewhat like this in 1884, but

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT AN election for three Trustees for Reciamation District No. 3, Grand Island, Sacramento county, Catifornia, will be held at the duelling house of MRS. REUBEN KERCHEVAL, within said District, on TUESDAY, the 15th day of NOVEMBER, A. D. 1888.

By order of the Board of Supervisors of Sacramento County, made the 5th day of October, A. D. 1888. WM. B. HAMILTON, County Clerk of Sacramento County, and ex officio Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of

SHE HELPED HIM OUT. A Ciri's Appreciation of a Stuttering Lover's Unspoken Thoughts.

An unkind story, even if true, was told me while I was in England, of a young lady who married a stuttering man. The young man was undoubtedly a stutterer of the most positive order, for I have heard him go through paroxysms to get out a simple "Good morning!" The lady whom he subsequently married was of an eminently practical turn of mind. No maiden modesty or bashfulness cloyed her methods. She spoke to the point, and never left a thought unexpressed if she

After he had called upon her some three or four times, she decided that it was about time for her to know his intentions. So the next time he called, after they had seated themselves as usual on the sofa, she said quietly but firmly: "Mr. Smith, I am very much flattered by the interest you have just taken in me, and the flowers you have just given me are very pretty, but I feel that I should not be doing my duty if I delayed any longer asking you what your intentions are. Whither do these attentions and presents lead?"

Young Mr. Smith rose to his feet and Republican a blush rose to his cheek. He essayed to speak. For a moreent his lips and tongue seemed paralyzed. Then he managed to get out "M-M-M-My d-d-d-d-d"—but he could get no further. The d might have stood for any number of "PROTECTION TO AMERICAN words, but Miss Smith, justifiably haps, interpreted it to stand for darling and the youth's acute embarrassment to a modest confusion in making a formal Anyway, she took Mr. Smith by the hand, and, looking into his eyes, exclaimed: "Mr. Smith, I appreciate your embarrassment, but I understand what BENJAMIN HARRISON you wish to say. You may speak to papa, and if he approves so do I." They were married a few months later, but Mr. Smith has never explained satisfactorily to his friends whether he stuttered into matrimony of his own free will or against it .- Pittsburg Dispatch.

The anticipation of the Free Traders, alike on this side of the Allantic and on the other, have been assisted by the remarkable "platform" which the Protectionists have issued in view of the Presidential election. The heavy odds against them seem to have made the iron and steel men and the other protected interests of America desperate. — London Colliery

Women Fifty Years Ago. The women of to-day know little of the hard and continuous work which their mothers and grandmothers did, especially those of them who were members of a Frank A. Leach, C. Dunker, farmer's household. In those days there James R. Lewe, H. V. Morehouse, were no carpets on the floors, no "modern conveniences" in the house, no butcher's G. G. Blanchard, C. T. Jones. to the door, and few agricultural implements on the farm. Everything was then done by manual labor, and the results were so associated with hard work as to were so we carts nor provision wagons to bring food A writer in the Germantown Telegraph thus discourses upon a farmer's household In the first place, when soap was needed, the leach-tub must be set up some time previously, and often the housewife had to defer her plans until a convenient sea-son for the men to find the time to do the job. Then a great quantity of hot water must be applied to the ashes to extract the lye, and after waiting three or four days for it to commence to run, the pro-

All the grease-pots which had accumulated during the year were brought out. the big iron kettle was hung on the crane and a big hot fire started. There was no rule or recipe to go by, only guess work.

Put in some grease and some lye, boil

then add some more until the kettle i nearly full; boil, then dip out a little to cool, and learn what is needed. Perhaps it is more lye, or water, or may be grease and thus working over the fire all day inhaling the perfumes of the boiling mass. until at last the compound is thought to be all right; but when, after standing over night, it proved to be not of the right thickness, then it must be boiled over again the next day.

Then came the clearing up, which was no small job. A sufficient quantity was made to last through the year, for, remember, no soap-peddler came around, and there was no hard soap except a little sometimes for the toilet.

Then there was another dreaded day, when the butchering was done. No meat carts to bring nice fresh meat to your doors, but enough meat must be pickled and preserved in some form to last through the year; sausages were made and ham cured, a part stowed away for the haying season, when four or five men were fed five times a day for as many weeks., for in these days men were up at five o'clock in the morning to whet the scythe, before the dew was off the grass. Cooking in those days meant hard work.

Every Saturday, and often twice a week, the big brick oven was heated and filled with beans, Indian pudding, four or five loaves of brown bread, two or three kinds of pies, and a pot of apple-sauce with a bread crust over the top, called "pandowdy," and very good eating it was.

All the other cooking was done at an open fireplace; an iron teakettle, a pot for potatoes, and a larger one for boiled dinners, hung on a crane; a spider to fry the pork and sausage, a heavy iron bake-pan to set over the coals, to bake biscuit, with a lid to cover it; a large iron shovel to haul out the coals, and some one to stand ever the coals to attend to the cooking.

The wife and mother spent most of her time cooking when she was not washing, ironing, and mending for the family. No hired girls to help as long as one could keep off the bed. Once or twice a year a woman came to help make the garments for the family, and help get the children ready for school.- Youth's Com-

Give Them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and ading from them. these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And ey do they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung ob s, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everyupon this for certain.

"Vat," said the conductor for a little German band to a citizen who sat in his front window, "you no git noddings for dot music?" "Not a cent," replied the citizen, with hopeless emphasis. "Den ve blay some more." So the citizen hastily gave up a quarter .- The Epoch.

Metropolitan Theater. The Rice Burlesque and Opera Bouffe Oak, 63; Florin Hotel, 96; Elk Grove, 231; Company had a packed house last night Eight hundred and fifty programmes were exhausted twenty minutes before the curtain went up. There were fully a thousand people in the theater by 8 o'clock. "Evangeline" is a spectacle, with very spirited choruses and a few good solos. The music, indeed, which is by Edward Rice, is livelier and more spirited than the burlesque. While Fay Templeton, a strong contralto and a pretty woman, is the star of the troupe, Louise Montague is certainly her equal, uses her limited vocal ability quite as well, and is the more attractive in person. George S. Knight is the low comedian of the company, and a very grotesque and original burlesque actor. The gigantic form of George K. Fortesque was the cause of quite as much mirth. The company is very large. It has in it a good male chorus and a couple of dozen of pretty and graceful women. There is a great amount of rich costumery and several beautiful sets of scenery—one in the second act is notably fine. The dis-play of the female form is certainly liberal and could scarcely be more so and retain a semblance of decency. The burlesque is itself nothing, lacks body, breadth and depth, in fact is shallow beyond comparison. The piece depends wholly for its drawing qualities upon its pretty women, its fine scenery, rich costumes and clever comedians, of whom there are five or six. The public cannot, with this understanding, make any mistake about the piece, nor as to what taste it addresses itself. "Evan

LONG ISLAND COWBOYS COMMIT A FIENDISH CRIME.

Several Deadly Explosions-Woman Murdered by a Cuban-Pugilistic Talk-Etc.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.

MYSTERIOUS AFFAIR. A Woman Fatally Shot in Her Home by a Cuban. PHILADELPHIA, November 5th .- A very mysterious shooting affair, which will in all likelihood cause the death of Mrs. Retta Stockes, occurred to-night. Early in the three shots were heard in her house, and an officer, upon investigation, found that a Cuban named Fred Raimos arrested Raimos, but only succeeded in doing so after the prisoner had fired a shot and been clubbed into insensibility.

Both Mrs. Stockes and Raimos were taken to the hospital, where the former is dying and the latter either feigning or is unconscious. Not the slightest clue as to the motive for the crime can be learned, the woman being unable to talk. and the prisoner is likewise silent. Mrs. Stockes has a seven-year-old child and lived with her husband in the house where she received her wounds. Her husband, who returned to the house shortly after the affair, can throw no light upon it.

KILRAIN AND MITCHELL. A Talk With a Couple of Noted Prize-

Fighters. NEW YORK, November 5th .- Jake Kilrain awaited the arrival of Charley Mitchell on the Umbria yesterday afternoon, and while on the pier entered into conversation with a friend on the merits of McAuliffe as a fighter. He said: "What do you think of this California chap, McAuliffe?" "He's a good one," was the response, and it looks as though he would make all of you big fellows stand about a bit to beat

'He certainly is a good one," responded the pugilist, "but Conley went at him with his head down. What could he expect but a licking? What McAuliffe deserves especial praise for is taking advantage of him so quickly. He wasted no time on him." "He'll be after you, Jake," suggested the third party, "if he licks the big darky,

"How much does he weigh-212 pounds, isn't it? he may be thirty-two pounds heavier than I, but there's more than that difference between Sullivan and Mitchell, and Charley wasn't killed or whipped, either." Mitchell received a cordial welcome. He waved his hat to acquaintances on the at Kilrain.

M. Rance, in Le Matin, says Boulanger day by day steadily gains in power. Everything turns to his advantage. His daughter's wedding has added to his prestige. Boulanger now poses on more than equal terms with the Compte de Paris and Prince Victor.

The Gaulois says: "It is the duty of all Frenchmen to throw themselves heart and soul into the Boulanger movement."

The Journal des Debats says: "We are sorry for it, but we are obliged to record that Boulanger is now the man of the future;" while the Temps adds, "Boulanger now completely overshadows the Compte de Paris and Prince Victor." The imperialist, La Patric, remarks, "At the moment when the priest passed to the left of the altar during the wedding remains the rest passed to the left of the altar during the wedding remains the prince validation of the prince passed to the left of the altar during the wedding remains and the prince validation of the prince passed to the left of the altar during the wedding remains and prince victor, and the prince passed to the left of the altar during the wedding remains the prince passed to the left of the altar during the wedding remains and prince victor, and the prince passed to the left of the altar during the wedding remains and prince victor, and the prince passed to the left of the altar during the wedding remains and prince victor, and the prince passed to the left of the altar during the wedding remains the prince victor, and the prince victor, and the prince victor of the prince victor of the prince victor, and the prince victor of the prince victor of the prince victor of the prince victor, and the prince victor of the prince vic
